I. SYNOPSIS

Since this Sabbath falls around Christmas, the lesson merges the seven lessons preceding it on the life of David with the Christmas story. The confluence of these two topics showcases the significance of Jesus as the Son of David.

The Christmas story recorded in both Matthew and Luke include the genealogy of Jesus. Usually when the Christmas story is shared, however, that slice of the story is completely ignored. No doubt the Bible writers did not intend for the reader to skip “the begats.” The details of Jesus’ background are critical to understanding the full story of the Incarnation. Listing the ancestry of Jesus underscores the fact that He was indeed the long-awaited Messiah, the Son of David. In the 17 different verses in the New Testament where Jesus was referred to as the Son of David, it was primarily meant to refer to His Messianic title as the Old Testament prophesied concerning Him.

There are many relevant talking points in this lesson. For example, by highlighting some of the unsavory characters in Jesus’ family tree you may wish to emphasize the unconditional love of God. No matter how spectacular our sin, God is not afraid to include every one of us in His family.

Whatever elements you choose to feature, the lesson should be all about Jesus—His ancestry, His birth as the fulfillment of prophecy, His life and claims to be the Messiah (i.e., the Son of David), and His death as our only hope of salvation. Focus on and lift up Jesus!

II. TARGET

The students will:
- See the importance of genealogies in the ancient world. (Know)
- Sense the validity in Jesus’ claim of being the Messiah. (Feel)
- Be challenged with the question Jesus put to His disciples: “Who do you say that I am?” (Respond)

III. EXPLORE

- Life of Christ
- Prophecy
- God’s Unconditional Love

TEACHING

I. GETTING STARTED

Activity

Refer the students to the What Do You Think? section of their lesson. After they have completed it, grade the quiz and have each student share briefly their family history.

As an alternate way to introduce the topic, instruct each student to write a catchy, gripping opener to a book about Jesus’ genealogy and life story. Remind them that they want their sentence to catch people’s attention and make them want to read more about who Jesus is. Give them the option of texting the assignment to you. Share the following examples:

- “Born to die that I might live.”
- “A King is born.”
II. TEACHING THE STORY

Bridge to the Story
In your own words explain:
In ancient Israel, they loved genealogies. Imagine their world: no ipads, no game devices, no television. At night people would sit around the fire and tell stories. One of their favorite methods of storytelling was listing names. This gave people a sense of identity, passing from one generation to another. Hearing the lists they would conclude, “I’m not just a rootless nomad. Ask me who I am, I’ll tell you about my people.” Still today in the Middle East there are tribal nomads who can spend hours just reciting the names of ancestors.

Out of the Story for Teachers
After you read the Into the Story section with your students, use the following in your own words to process it with them.
Jesus lived in an oral culture. For the most part, they did not keep written records. This meant that the only way to establish legal status, financial standing, vocational credibility, and property rights was to depend on their memory of genealogies. For example, if you wanted to be a priest in Jesus’ day, you had to prove that you were in a line of descendants dating back to Aaron from the tribe of Levi.

So it’s not surprising that Matthew would begin his book in the manner that he did. People would have loved that. To establish the identity of the Messiah—this rabbi who spoke with unrivaled authority—and show that this Anointed One came from the right line was not only captivating but also very important.

From the beginning of his Gospel, Matthew is establishing the fact that this baby “born in Bethlehem in Judea, during the time of King Herod” (Matthew 2:1, NIV) was indeed the Messiah, the Son of David.

Sharing Context and Background
Explore with the students the scandalous background of the women that Matthew includes in the opening paragraph of his book. Explain to the students how the inclusion of these women in the lineage of... the Messiah would have been a shocking attention-grabber to any reader in the ancient world.

Tamar. The first names mentioned in Matthew’s Gospel—Abraham, Isaac, Jacob, Judah—would have been expected. But then he mentions “Judah the father of Perez and Zerah, whose mother was Tamar” (Matthew 1:3, NIV). To include the name of a woman was shocking. To mention the name of Tamar was downright reprehensible.

Check out Genesis 38 for this R-rated scandal: Judah was going to choose a wife for his son, and he found a Canaanite woman named Tamar. He married her to his oldest boy, Er, who was then put to death because of his wickedness. Judah was then obligated to care for Tamar because he had taken her away from her homeland. But he abandoned her.

Being a woman in that day meant that Tamar had no legal rights. So she disguised herself as a cult prostitute and got business from her father-in-law. It was dark, she was veiled, and he didn’t recognize her. He slept with her and then gave her his staff as a pledge to pay her.

A few months later Judah was told that his widowed daughter-in-law Tamar was pregnant. He got all self-righteous, and he said: “Bring her out and have her burned to death!” (Genesis 38:24, NIV). Tamar brought the staff with her, and Judah was busted.

Rahab. Matthew continues: “Salmon, the father of Boaz, whose mother was Rahab” (Matthew 1:5, NIV).

Here’s another pagan Gentile. She didn’t just pretend to be a prostitute; she was one. In the ancient world, if a woman was not married and she wasn’t under the care of a family, she basically had three choices: she could starve to death, she could beg, or she could be a prostitute.

Ruth. Next, Matthew mentions “Boaz the father of Obed, whose mother was Ruth” (Matthew 1:5, NIV).

You may remember the story of Ruth, but there is something about her you may not know. Ruth was not just a Gentile; she was a Moabite. According to Genesis 19:37, the Moabites were the product of an incestuous relationship between Lot and one of his daughters. Moabites were considered by the Israelites to be so unclean that the law said: “No . . . Moabite or any of their descendants may enter the assembly of the Lord, not even in the tenth generation” (Deuteronomy 23:3, NIV). The Israelites considered the Moabites to be the vilest people on the planet.

Bathsheba. Matthew is not done yet. “David was the father of Solomon, whose mother had been Uriah’s wife” (Matthew 1:6, NIV). Remember Uriah’s wife, Bathsheba? Once again Matthew includes another sor-did story. Uriah was a Hittite, which means Bathsheba was a Gentile by marriage.

It’s as if Matthew searched the Scriptures for the most unsavory folk he could find and then connected them to Jesus. This made for some riveting reading indeed!
III. CLOSING

Activity

Close with an activity and debrief it in your own words.

Give each student a scarlet ribbon as a Christmas gift. Wrap each one individually and let them open the present at the end of class. See the summary below to connect the ribbon with the stories in this study. Close with an appeal to accept Christ’s sacrifice on the cross.

Summary

Consider the scarlet ribbon that weaves its way through the genealogy of Jesus:

Tamar gives birth to twin boys. One of them reaches his hand out of her body first and the midwife ties a scarlet cord around his wrist. In this way they could identify the firstborn—indicating which boy would receive the inheritance. You see, there is a blessing that is being passed down from Abraham to Isaac to Jacob to Judah. The ultimate blessing, our inheritance of eternal life, will be the Deliverer who will come from this line.

The spies informed Rahab, “We’re coming back, and the city is going to be destroyed. Because of your kindness to us, however, you can just tie a scarlet cord to the window where you let us out, and we will spare you and your family. When we see the scarlet cord, it will be a sign, and you will be saved. The scarlet cord will be a sign of salvation” (see Joshua 2:17-21).

“Then the governor’s soldiers took Jesus into the Praetorium and gathered the whole company of soldiers around him. They stripped him and put a scarlet robe on him” (Matthew 27:27, 28, NIV). Indeed, the scarlet robe is a symbol of our inheritance. It is a symbol of our blessing. And it is a symbol of our salvation.

Remind the students about the reading plan, that will take them through the inspired commentary of the Bible, the Conflict of the Ages series. The reading that goes with this lesson is Patriarchs and Prophets (or Beginning of the End), chapter 70 and The Desire of Ages (or Humble Hero), chapters 1-4.
The Pharisees had gathered close about Jesus as He answered the question of the scribe. Now turning He put a question to them: ‘What think ye of Christ? whose son is He?’ This question was designed to test their belief concerning the Messiah—to show whether they regarded Him simply as a man or as the Son of God. A chorus of voices answered, ‘The Son of David.’ This was the title which prophecy had given to the Messiah” (The Desire of Ages, p. 608).

“Now Jesus himself was about thirty years old when he began his ministry. He was the son, so it was thought, of Joseph, the son of Heli, . . . the son of David.”

what do you think?

Here’s a quiz to see how well you know genealogy:

1. You have the names of three siblings born between 1884 and 1887 and need to know the names of their parents. Which census would be the best one to start with?
   - 1880
   - 1900
   - 1910

2. The best place to start your genealogical research is...
   - Internet
   - Grandma
   - Library

3. Your grandfather’s sister’s daughter is your...
   - great-aunt
   - second cousin
   - first cousin once removed

4. You found several records that give your ancestor’s birth date. Which source is most reliable?
   - 1834 baptismal record
   - 1850 census
   - 1902 death record

Answers:
1. 1900, the siblings were not born yet in 1880, and by 1910 they were probably not living with their parents.
2. Grandma, start with your relatives. The biggest regret family historians report is that they didn’t interview relatives when they could.
3. First cousin once removed.
4. The baptismal record, because it was recorded when the event occurred—the closer the record to the event, the more reliable.

did you know?

There are 17 verses in the New Testament that describe Jesus as the “Son of David.” But how is it possible for Jesus to be David’s “son” if David lived approximately 1,000 years before Jesus? Matthew 1 outlines the genealogical proof that Jesus was a direct descendant of David through Joseph, Jesus’ legal father. The genealogy in Luke 3 gives Jesus’ lineage through His mother, Mary. Thus, Jesus is a descendant of David, both through Joseph by adoption and Mary by blood.

“I will be his father, and he will be my son. When he does wrong, I will punish him with a rod wielded by men, with floggings inflicted by human hands. But my love will never be taken away from him, as I took it away from Saul, whom I removed from before you. Your house and your kingdom will endure forever before me; your throne will be established forever.”

“This is the genealogy of Jesus the Messiah son of David, the son of Abraham: Abraham was the father of Isaac, Isaac the father of Jacob, Jacob the father of Judah and his brothers, Judah the father of Perez and Zerah, whose mother was Tamar, Perez the father of Hezron, Hezron the father of Ram, Ram the father of Boaz, Boaz the father of Obed, Obed the father of Jesse, and Jesus the father of King David.”

“Now Jesus himself was about thirty years old when he began his ministry. He was the son, so it was thought, of Joseph, the son of Heli, the son of Matthat, the son of Levi, the son of Melki, the son of Jannai, the son of Joseph, the son of Mattathias, the son of Amos, the son of Nahum, the son of Esli, the son of Naggai, the son of Maath, the son of Mattathias, the son of Semein, the son of Josek, the son of Joda, the son of Joanan, the son of Rhesa, the son of Zerubbabel, the son of Shealtiel, the son of Neri, the son of Melki, the son of Addi, the son of Cosam, the son of Elmadam, the son of Er, the son of Joshua, the son of Eliezer, the son of Jorim, the son of Matthat, the son of Levi, the son of Simeon, the son of Judah, the son of Joseph, the son of Jonam, the son of Eliakim, the son of Melea, the son of Menia, the son of Mattathah, the son of Nathan, the son of David, the son of Jesse, the son of Obed, the son of Boaz, . . . the son of Seth, the son of Adam, the son of God.”

(2 Samuel 7:14-16; Matthew 1:1-6, 16; Luke 3:23-32, 38, NIV)
OUT OF THE STORY

Why do you think God tells David that He will be a father to his son and will punish him when he does wrong? Do you think this is a promise or a threat? (See Proverbs 3:12 and Hebrews 12:3-11).

How does the knowledge that God loves you too much to allow you to continue to do wrong and harm your relationship with Him, others, and yourself give you hope as you face life’s difficulties?

Scan through the genealogies (Matthew 1:1-16 and Luke 3:23-38) and underline all the names you have heard of.

Circle all the people who have stories with which you are familiar. Star the names of the people whose story you know very well.

Both Matthew 1 and Luke 3 contain genealogies of Jesus. Read through each one and note how the two lists are similar and how they are different. For example, when the genealogies arrive at David, they split with David’s sons: “Nathan,” who is on Mary’s side, and “Solomon,” who is on Joseph’s side.

Similarities:

Differences:

Why do you suppose they are different?

Punch lines

“This is how the birth of Jesus the Messiah came about: His mother Mary was pledged to be married to Joseph, but before they came together, she was found to be pregnant through the Holy Spirit. Because Joseph her husband was faithful to the law, and yet did not want to expose her to public disgrace, he had in mind to divorce her quietly.”

“But after he had considered this, an angel of the Lord appeared to him in a dream and said, ‘Joseph son of David, do not be afraid to take Mary home as your wife, because what is conceived in her is from the Holy Spirit.’ ” (Matthew 1:18-20, NIV).

“Then Jesus said to them, ‘Why is it said that the Messiah is the Son of David?’ ” (Luke 20:41, NIV).

“But he was pierced for our transgressions, he was crushed for our iniquities; the punishment that brought us peace was on him, and by his wounds we are healed. We all, like sheep, have gone astray, each of us has turned to our own way; and the LORD has laid on him the iniquity of us all” (Isaiah 53:5, 6, NIV).

Further insight

“In the fields where the boy David had led his flock, shepherds were still keeping watch by night. Through the silent hours they talked together of the promised Saviour, and prayed for the coming of the King to David’s throne. ‘And, lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them. . . . And the angel said unto them, Fear not: for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people. For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord.’ ”—Ellen G. White, The Desire of Ages, p. 47.
Sabbath
Read Genesis 5 and 11:10-32.
In a small group of friends, discuss the following:
• Share what you know about your parents, grandparents, great-grandparents, et cetera. How far back in your family history can you go with knowing something about your ancestors?
• What is your family story? How does your family history color that story?
• What are the benefits of studying your family history?
• What are the benefits of studying the family history of Jesus?
• Numerous genealogies are listed in both the Old Testament and the New Testament. Why do you think the writers of the Bible were so careful to include these lists? What can we learn from them?

Sunday
Matthew’s genealogy of Jesus would have sent shock waves through the community because of his inclusion of women. In the ancient world women did not establish bloodlines. They had no legal rights. They were treated as property—much like one might own bloodlines. They had no legal rights. They were In the ancient world women did not establish community because of his inclusion of women. Read the following stories of the women that Matthew included.

Tamar (Matthew 1:3; Genesis 38) ____________________________
Rehab (Matthew 1:5; Joshua 2:6:22, 23; see also Hebrews 11:31 and James 2:25) ____________________________
Ruth (Matthew 1:5; see also Genesis 19:37 and Deuteronomy 23:3 for background regarding Ruth’s ancestors, the Moabites) ____________________________
Bathsheba (Matthew 1:6; 2 Samuel 11–12:24; 1 Chronicles 3:5) ____________________________
What do these women have in common? What is Matthew trying to tell us by mentioning these women in the bloodline of Jesus? What does this tell us about Jesus?

Monday
Explain why Luke said “so it was thought” that Jesus was the son of Joseph and David. Does the inclusion of this statement cast doubt on the divine origin of Jesus? Why or why not?

Tuesday
Read Matthew 16:13.
After reading the Flashlight section reflect on the question that Jesus put to the Pharisees: “What think ye of Christ? whose son is he?” Compare this question to the question that Jesus asked His disciples in today’s reading—“Who do people say the Son of Man is?”
Is this the same question? Explain.
Consider what the following verses say about the identity of Christ and then complete the sentence:
Matthew 16:16—Jesus is ____________________________
John 3:16, 17—Jesus is ____________________________
John 10:30—Jesus is ____________________________ Colossians 1:13-23—Jesus is ____________________________

Wednesday
Read the three texts included in the Punch Line section. How do Matthew 1:18-20 and Isaiah 53:5, 6 answer the question that Jesus poses in Luke 20:41?

Thursday
Read Matthew 1:1-17.
Reflecting on Matthew’s genealogy of Jesus, Martin Luther once said, “It is as though God intended for people to hear this genealogy and say to themselves, ‘Oh, Christ is the kind of person who is not ashamed of sinners. See, he even puts them in his family tree.’ ”

Friday
Read Matthew 27:28.
Matthew tells us that the soldiers put a scarlet robe on Jesus’ body. Scarlet is a symbol of scandal. Toward the end of Jesus’ life Matthew is saying, “Now you see the scarlet thread in the One who took on all of our sins. It is a sign of salvation, a symbol of grace, weaving all the way to a bloodstained cross. There’s room in the family for you. Will you accept Jesus’ invitation to join His family?”
