Given our world’s obsession with success, you may wish to focus this lesson on Solomon’s pursuit of success through possessions, power, pleasure, and so on. And yet in the end he exclaims, “Everything is meaningless, . . . completely meaningless!” (Ecclesiastes 1:2, NLT). What a great example Solomon gives us in meeting our deepest needs only in a relationship with God.

II. TARGET
The students will:
- Understand the benefits of finding our ultimate meaning in God alone. (Know)
- Sense the need to confess and repent. (Feel)
- Look to God for the answers to the deepest questions of the soul. (Respond)

III. EXPLORE
- Success
- Pride
- Confession/repentance

TEACHING

I. GETTING STARTED

Activity
Refer the students to the What Do You Think? section of their lesson. After they have completed it, discuss their responses.

Invite the students to play a word association game. Invite them to shout out the first word that comes to mind when they hear the following words:
leads to forgiveness. Forgiveness gives way to healing, and healing brings wholeness.”—Mark Finley, Solid Ground, p. 21.

II. TEACHING THE STORY

Bridge to the Story

Use the following questions to connect the introductory story with the lesson:

Can you relate to trying to hide something you have done wrong? What are the common “stains” that young people today try to hide? Why is confession an important component of spiritual life? How do we imperil the quality of our relationship with God and others when we are dishonest about our sins?

Out of the Story for Teachers

After you read the Into the Story section with your students, use the following in your own words to process it with them.

• As Solomon reflected in his journal near the end of his life, he clearly had a lot of regrets. Identify some of these regrets. What are some regrets that you hope to never have? How do you need to live each day to ensure that you will not have these regrets?

• What do you think Solomon meant when he wrote the following observations? How might heeding these observations help us to live wisely?
  —“Fools are put in many high positions, while the rich occupy the low ones” (Ecclesiastes 10:6, NIV).
  —“One sinner destroys much good” (Ecclesiastes 9:18, NIV).
  —“Better one handful with tranquility than two handfuls with toil and chasing after the wind” (Ecclesiastes 4:6, NIV).

• Ecclesiastes 12:13 is a fitting summary of what the wisest man who has ever lived had to say at the end of his storied life. The sum total of all his wisdom is captured in this verse. Find as many different translations of that verse as you can. Have each student read a different version of the text out loud until all the translations have been read. Next, have a volunteer read the following texts and then discuss how each text relates to Ecclesiastes 12:13.
  Philippians 2:12, 13; 1 Corinthians 15:58;
Sharing Context and Background

The following themes seem to emerge naturally from Solomon’s story. Depending on the theme(s) that you choose, share this broader biblical background in your own words.

1. Confession—If using this lesson to talk about confession, it’s important to share what confession is, and what it is not. Listen to James’s appeal for confession: “Come near to God and he will come near to you. Wash your hands, you sinners, and purify your hearts, you double-minded. Grieve, mourn and wail” (James 4:8, 9, NIV).

Truth be told, there’s plenty to confess in all of us. James’s appeal to double-minded sinners to purify their hearts is a key to enjoying life with God. In so doing we come near to God and He comes near to us. We counter conflict and foster community. It works like aloe vera on a sunburned soul.

Confession is not burping our sins in public so everyone can wince. It is the purifying process through which God allows us to experience His grace (see also James 5:16). Dietrich Bonhoeffer said, “A man who confesses his sins in the presence of a brother knows that he is no longer alone with himself; he experiences the presence of God in the reality of the other person.”

2. Success—The Bible is brimming with success stories of young people who modeled time-tested morals. For example, Isaac refused to rebel against his dad—even though it meant climbing onto an altar to be killed. Joseph refused to compromise his employer’s trust in him—even though his choice put him in the prison. David refused to take Goliath’s taunts—even though it meant facing a giant with only a slingshot. Throughout the Bible we find stories of young people who refused to compromise their principles—no matter the cost.

Invite the students to brainstorm about other Bible characters who illustrate what true success looks like.

3. Pride—Review the origin of sin. Consider Satan’s haughty claims: “I will ascend to the heavens; I will raise my throne above the stars of God; I will sit enthroned on the mount of assembly, on the utmost heights of Mount Zaphon. I will ascend above the tops of the clouds; I will make myself like the Most High” (Isaiah 14:13, 14, NIV).

A quick tour through Scripture reminds us that God has zero tolerance for pride. “The Lord preserves those who are true to him, but the proud he pays back in full” (Psalm 31:23, NIV). “Whoever has haughty eyes and a proud heart, I will not tolerate” (Psalm 101:5, NIV). “The Lord detests all the proud of heart. Be sure of this: They will not go unpunished” (Proverbs 16:5, NIV). “God opposes the proud but shows favor to the humble” (James 4:6, NIV).

Why is pride so disdainful to God? How can we nurture a humble spirit?
III. CLOSING

Activity

A fun way to wrap up the lesson is with this improvisational activity.

Role-play a scene from a pastor’s office where an actor playing a teenage Solomon comes and confesses his sins. Then have the actor come again as the old Solomon to confess sins that spanned a long life. Encourage the students to be as true to the biblical account of Solomon as they can. In other words, Solomon should confess sins that he really did struggle to overcome. Finally, have the student playing Solomon remain in character and share with the class what he learned in his life. Again, encourage the actor to be as factual as possible.

Summary

A well-worn children’s story makes a fitting conclusion to this lesson:

Once there was a spider that dropped a single strand down from the rafter of an old barn and began to weave his web. Day by day the spider stretched his web until it spanned an expansive fly zone. Daily the web snagged a buffet of bugs, making the spider the envy of all spiders.

One day the spider was cruising along his elaborately woven web and noticed the single strand disappearing into the rafters. Hmm, the spider wondered, of what value is that strand? It’s not going to catch me my dinner. With that thought the spider climbed up . . . and severed the single strand. Of course, the entire web swallowed the spider as he floated to his demise.² Like the spider, Solomon learned the hard way what happens when you sever the strand that connects you to God. In the end, he confesses that life has no meaning apart from God.

confessions of a foolish wise man

flashlight

“By his own bitter experience, Solomon learned the emptiness of a life that seeks in earthly things its highest good. . . . Yet the Lord forsook him not. By messages of reproof and by severe judgments, He sought to arouse the king to a realization of the sinfulness of his course” (Prophets and Kings, pp. 76, 77).

“Solomon’s repentance was sincere; but the harm that his example of evil-doing had wrought could not be undone. . . . Though the king confessed his sin and wrote out for the benefit of after generations a record of his folly and repentance, he could never hope entirely to destroy the baleful influence of his wrong deeds” (Prophets and Kings, pp. 84, 85).

into the story

“God gave Solomon wisdom and very great insight, and a breadth of understanding as measureless as the sand on the seashore. Solomon’s wisdom was greater than the wisdom of all the people of the East, and greater than all the wisdom of Egypt” (1 Kings 4:29, 30, NIV).

“I said to myself, ‘Come now, I will test you with pleasure to find out what is good.’ But that also proved to be meaningless” (Ecclesiastes 2:1, NIV).

“King Solomon was greater in riches and wisdom than all the other kings of the earth. The whole world sought audience with Solomon” (1 Kings 10:23, 24, NIV).

“Wisdom is better than weapons of war, but one sinner destroys much good” (Ecclesiastes 9:18, NIV).

“‘Meaningless! Meaningless!’ says the Teacher. ‘Everything is meaningless!’ ”

“Now all has been heard; here is the conclusion of the matter: Fear God and keep his commandments, for this is the duty of all mankind.”

(Ecclesiastes 12:1-6, 13, NIV)
OUT OF THE STORY

How is it that the wisest man in the world could make such foolish choices in life?

If Hollywood were to produce a movie based on the life of Solomon, what would you suggest to use as a title?

What does Solomon’s repentance teach us about God?

Is it possible to be as successful as Solomon and remain fully humble and dependent on God? Explain.

In your opinion, what is the most important lesson we can learn from Solomon’s story?

Read through a random selection of the Proverbs; then write a few proverbs of your own.

punch lines

“Do not trust in extortion or put vain hope in stolen goods; though your riches increase, do not set your heart on them” (Psalm 62:10, NIV).

“The righteous lead blameless lives; blessed are their children after them” (Proverbs 20:7, NIV).

“What good will it be for someone to gain the whole world, yet forfeit their soul? Or what can anyone give in exchange for their soul?” (Matthew 16:26, NIV).

“And let us consider how we may spur one another on toward love and good deeds, not giving up meeting together, as some are in the habit of doing, but encouraging one another—and all the more as you see the Day approaching” (Hebrews 10:24, 25, NIV).

“Pride goes before destruction, a haughty spirit before a fall. Better to be lowly in spirit along with the oppressed than to share plunder with the proud” (Proverbs 16:18, 19, NIV).

—Ellen G. White, Steps to Christ, p. 23.

further insight

“Repentance includes sorrow for sin and a turning away from it. We shall not renounce sin unless we see its sinfulness; until we turn away from it in heart, there will be no real change in the life.”
Sabbath
Read 1 John 1:9, 10.
Read through the What Do You Think? section and then reflect on the following questions:
• Which is easier—to confess or conceal wrongdoing? Why?
• What does God think about the practice of confession?
• How can confession bring a person closer to God?
• Why do people try to hide wrongdoing?
• What are the dangers of failing to confess sins?

Compare your answers in the What Do You Think? section with that of your friends and discuss:
What is the most common number 1 ranking for failure to confess sin?
What reasons, besides the ones listed, might people give for not practicing confession?
Explain any connection you see between pride and the unwillingness to confess and repent of sin.

Sunday
Read 1 Kings 10:23, 24.
Read the Bible verses that describe Solomon’s quest for meaning by pursuing wisdom, pleasure, and wealth. Why do you think these pursuits failed to quiet the innermost longings of his soul?
What things of the world are you pursuing that are failing to fill the innermost longing of your soul?

Monday
Read Ecclesiastes 12.
Review the Key Text for this lesson. What does it mean for you to “remember your Creator”? Solomon urges you to do this before you get old. He gives some very vivid and colorful illustrations of getting old. Draw lines to match the words of Solomon to the aging ailment that he is describing.

Tuesday
Read Matthew 6:24.
The quote in the Flashlight section highlights the hard lesson that Solomon learned about “the emptiness of a life that seeks in earthly things its highest good.” Pray about how earthly things influence you. Ask a mature Christian about how to not get caught up in the earthly things that many teens are getting caught up in, such as materialism, poor choices of friendship, premarital sex, alcohol, drugs.

What “master” are you serving?

Wednesday
Carefully read the Punch Lines. Contained in these verses you will find profound principles for enjoying a better life. Read the texts over and over until you have them deeply entrenched in your mind. Then apply the verses and use them today as an experiment in humbly walking with God.

Thursday
Read Matthew 16:26.
Review the life of Solomon, then ask yourself: From what aspect of Solomon’s story do I need to learn the most?

Friday
Read Proverbs 16:18, 19.

Ellen White offers this commentary on Solomon’s life: “Not only to the youth, but to those of mature years, . . . the life of Solomon is full of warning. We see and hear of unsteadiness in youth, the young wavering between right and wrong, and the current of evil passions proving too strong for them. In those of maturer years, we do not look for this unsteadiness and unfaithfulness; we expect the character to be established, the principles firmly rooted. But this is not always so. . . .”

“From such examples we should learn that in watchfulness and prayer is the only safety for both young and old. . . . One may for many years have enjoyed a genuine Christian experience, but he is still exposed to Satan’s attacks. In the battle with inward sin and outward temptation, even the wise and powerful Solomon was vanquished. His failure teaches us that, whatever a man’s intellectual qualities may be, and however faithfully he may have served God in the past, he can never with safety trust in his own wisdom and integrity” (Prophets and Kings, p. 82).

Questions to consider:
• What is the state of my character?
• Am I watchful and prayerful each day?
• How can I trust in God rather than in my own wisdom and integrity?
